“Wheelchair Rugby changed my life”

“My name is Andrew Edmondson and I am 21 years old. Ever since I was able to walk I always played or was involved in sports and extremely competitive. As a kid I grew up playing all different sports like cricket, tennis, swimming and AFL, however my biggest passion was always rugby union.

My life took a major change when I was 14 and was involved in a surfing accident at Coogee beach in which I shattered C5 and C6 vertebra in my neck and became an incomplete quadriplegic.

During my time in rehab I was introduced to the game of Wheelchair Rugby (Murderball) and after first seeing the game on a video I straight away knew it was something I wanted to do. As much as the game is different from able bodied rugby, I was still able to pick up the way the game works quite quickly, and was comfortable with the full wheelchair contact aspect of the game.

Murderball is played on a regulation basketball court. The aim of the game is to score goals whilst having control of the ball and pushing your chair over the line at each end of the court. As much bash and crash as there is in wheelchair rugby, the game also involves a lot of tactics and rules that makes the game challenging for the players and coaches. Each player is given a points classification dependant on their level of function. I am a 2.5 which is considered a high pointer therefore I use what is called an offensive chair that cost me around $8,000.

I have now been involved in wheelchair rugby for the past 6 years. It all started in 2005 when I played my first game at a Wheelchair Sports NSW Development Day and then shortly after purchased my first rugby chair. Also in 2005 I was selected to play in the NSW team and have been very lucky to be part of the team who have won the past 6 national titles. The National Wheelchair Rugby League is the top league in Australia and consists of 4 major State rounds a year.

The best part about being involved with the NSW team for me has been my fellow players. As one of the youngest on the team, the more experienced players have guided and provided me with great support.

Wheelchair rugby is and will now be a major part of my life going forward. Rugby provides a great incentive to stay fit and healthy so I can continue to achieve in my day to day life.
This currently involves working part time and studying a sports business degree at uni, and also to achieve my goal to one day represent Australia at the Paralympic Games.”

GIO joins the team - National Wheelchair Rugby League

2011 marks a turning point for Wheelchair Rugby in NSW. Wheelchair Sports NSW is proud to announce its continued partnership with GIO as the major sponsor of the GIO NSW Gladiators wheelchair rugby team. "GIO has nearly 90 years' experience in protecting and supporting the people and communities of NSW. We are delighted to assist and raise awareness of the talented wheelchair sportsmen and women in NSW," said Matt Kayrooz, NSW CTP Portfolio Manager for GIO.

The 2011 National Wheelchair Rugby League season began in Melbourne on 15-17 April at the Caroline Springs Leisure Centre. To the GIO NSW Gladiators this season meant more than continuing their hot streak of a hopeful sixth consecutive national title.

The GIO NSW Gladiators began their season without the influential Ryley Batt, regarded as the world's greatest player. They finished round one with a solitary win from five games. It was the dominance of the Victorian 'Coloplast' Thunder, who finished round one on top of the table with four wins.

Round two saw the return of Ryley Batt as the competition moved to the Brisbane Entertainment Centre on 13-15 May. The team bounced back to win their five games. Despite this turn around, the Victorian 'Coloplast' Thunder retained their first place with a 2 point margin over the GIO NSW Gladiators.

On the Queen's Birthday long weekend, 11-13 June, round three was played at Bankstown Basketball Stadium in Sydney's West. The momentum of the GIO NSW Gladiators looked to gather pace especially on the opening day of the round as they defeated the Victorian 'Coloplast' Thunder 55-41. Unfortunately an injury to Ryley Batt on the final day of round three meant they missed the opportunity to take first place, going down to the Jetstar Gold Coast Titans 61-38. However, the GIO NSW Gladiators were still well placed heading into the Finals weekend in Adelaide, 15-17 July.

In the Finals round in Adelaide, the GIO NSW Gladiators picked themselves back up by going through the weekend undefeated. This included rolling over the Victorian 'Coloplast' Thunder 57-39 in the grand final. With another dominant showing in 2011, Ryley Batt was named the 2011 NWRL Most Valued Player.

Women's U25 World Wheelchair Basketball Championships

Many of our supporters recently contributed to our Winter Appeal when we shared with you a story about one of our young female basketballers, Caitlin de Wit. Recently we sent three members (Caitlin de Wit, Jessica Pellow and Rachel Coady) to attend the Women's U25 World Wheelchair Basketball Championships. The Championships took place at Brock University in Ontario, Canada. The tournament was the first-ever World Championship for women in the under-25 age category and represented a milestone in the ongoing growth of wheelchair basketball. This landmark event forged a legacy of opportunity for young female wheelchair basketball athletes around the world.

The seven-day competition showcased the elite talent of the top young female wheelchair basketball athletes from eight international teams. The young women from NSW played a major part in the Australian team finishing second overall. This was a huge achievement and Wheelchair Sports NSW is extremely grateful for our supporters' contributions to make this possible.

Stacks Goudkamp Golf Day 2011

On Wednesday 31 March, Wheelchair Sports NSW hosted the annual Charity Challenge Stacks Goudkamp Golf Day. The golfers had a great day at Macquarie Links Golf Course with an early morning hit off, a buffet lunch, auctions, raffles, prizes and special speakers. Despite the worst golf conditions with non stop rain, everyone managed to get around most of the course and arrive back to the club with smiles on their faces.

The entire day was a success as Wheelchair Sports NSW raised over $16,000. Thank you to all our golfers, sponsors, auction and raffle winners and Charity Challenge with Gary Dawson and Matt Laverty. A special thanks to Tom Goudkamp from Stacks Goudkamp Compensation Law Firm for sponsoring the golf day. We look forward to a sunny day next year!
